EASTERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY

ROOSEVELT

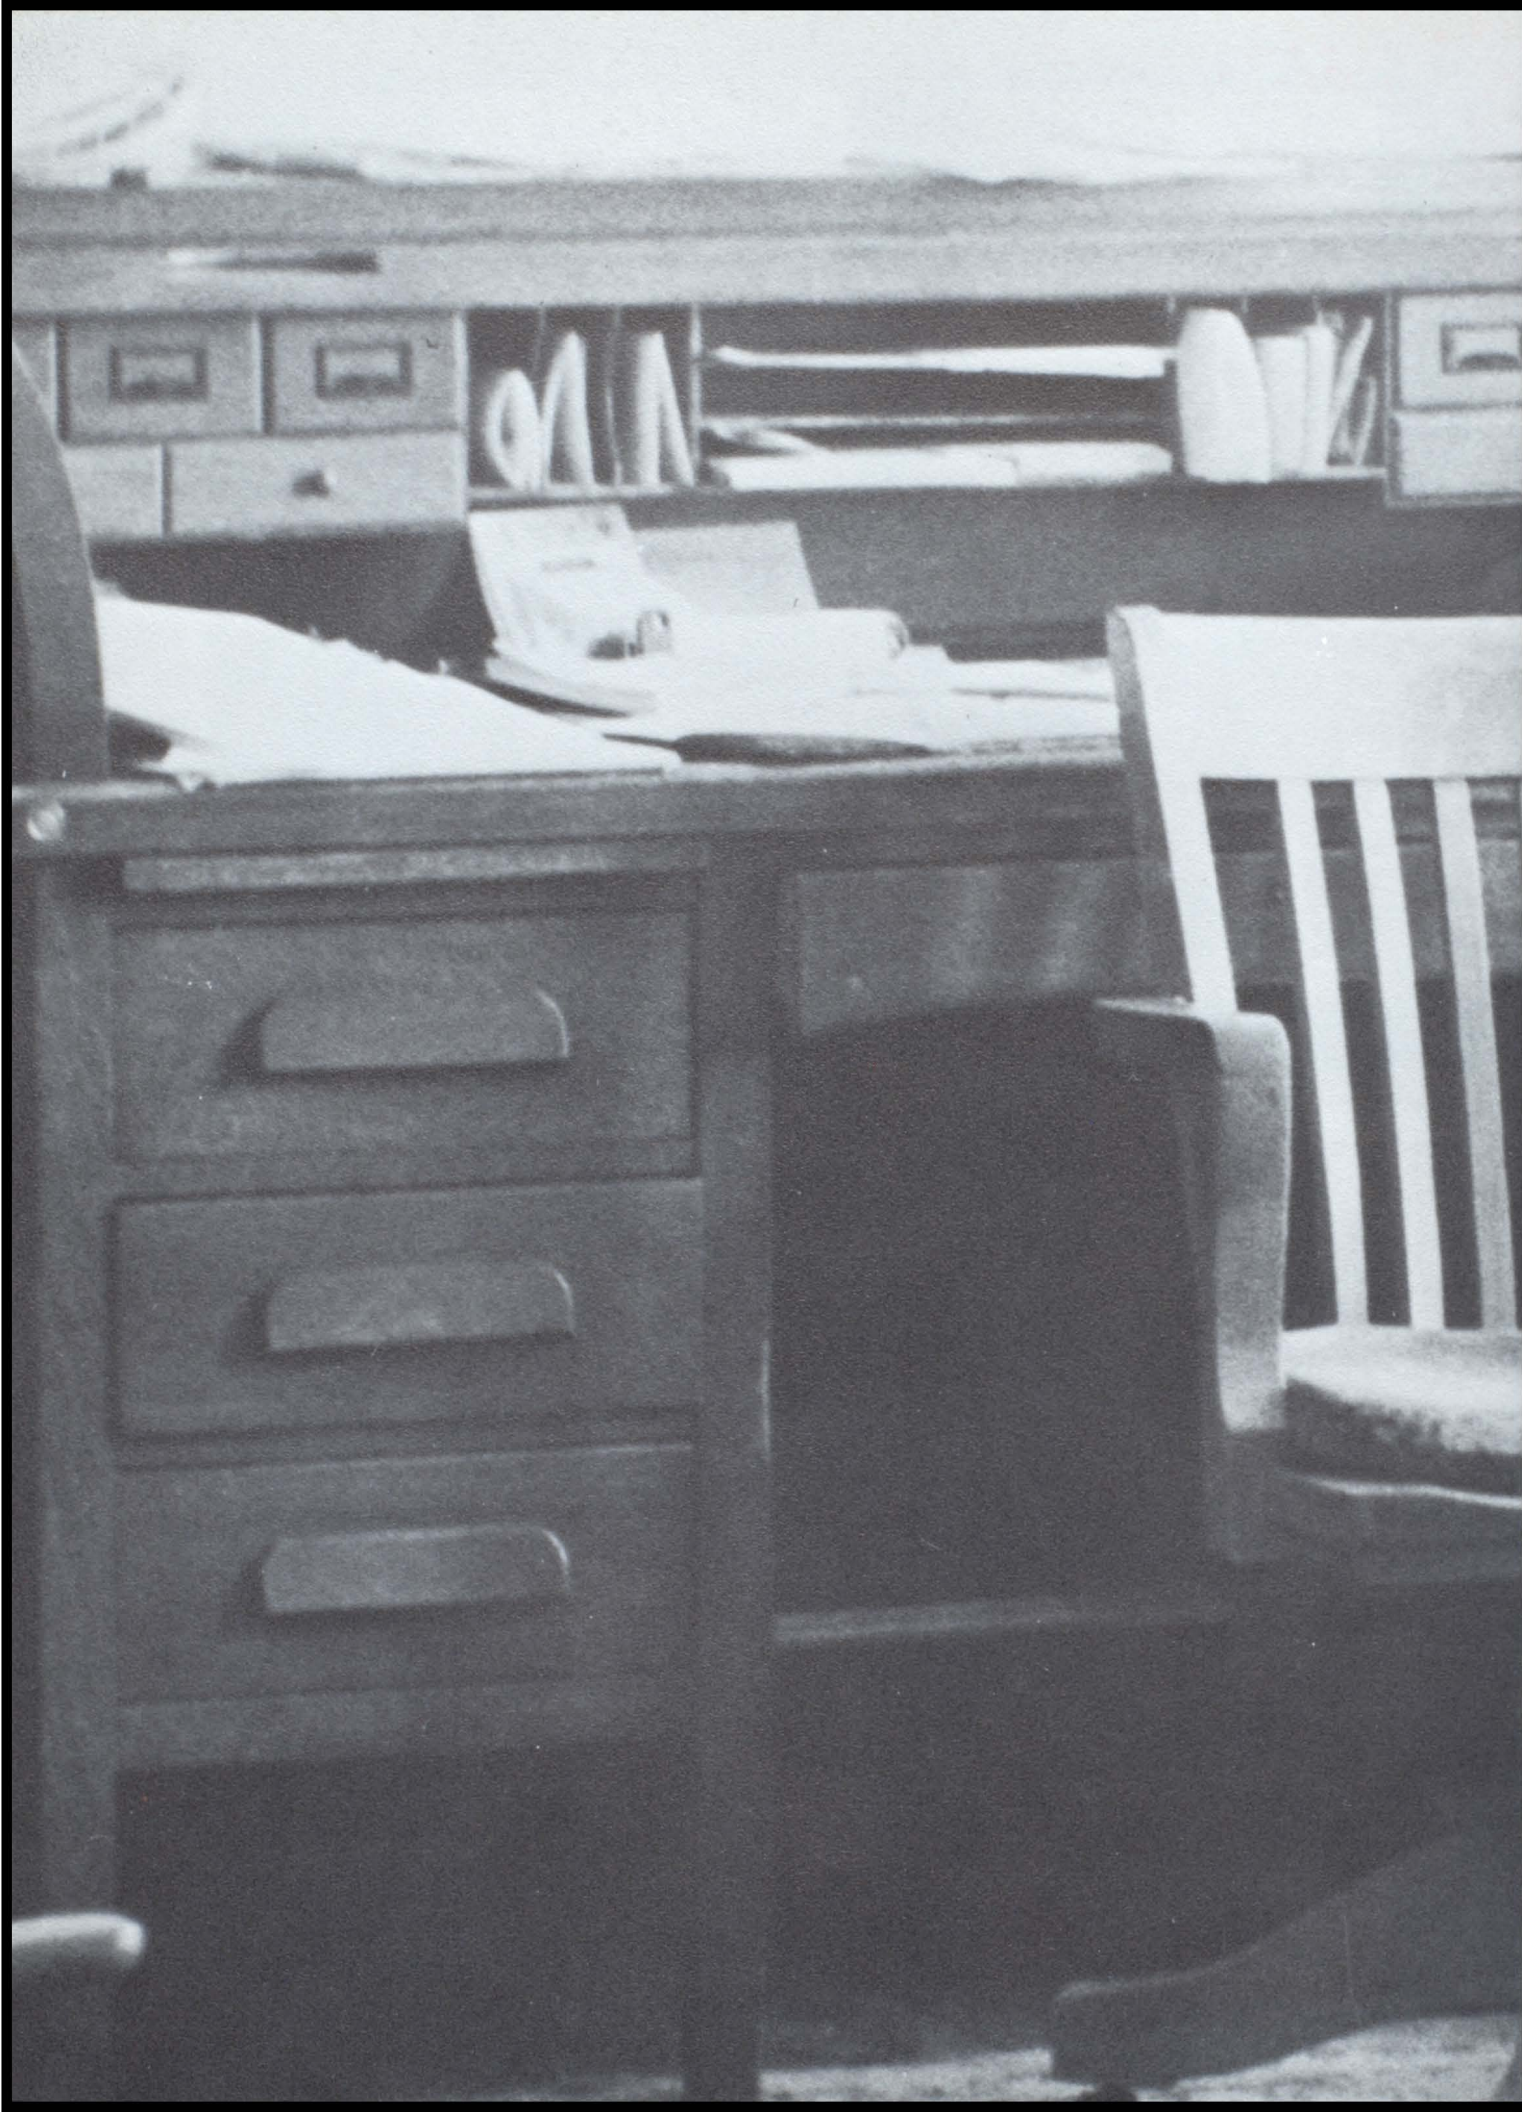

LABORATORY SCHOOL

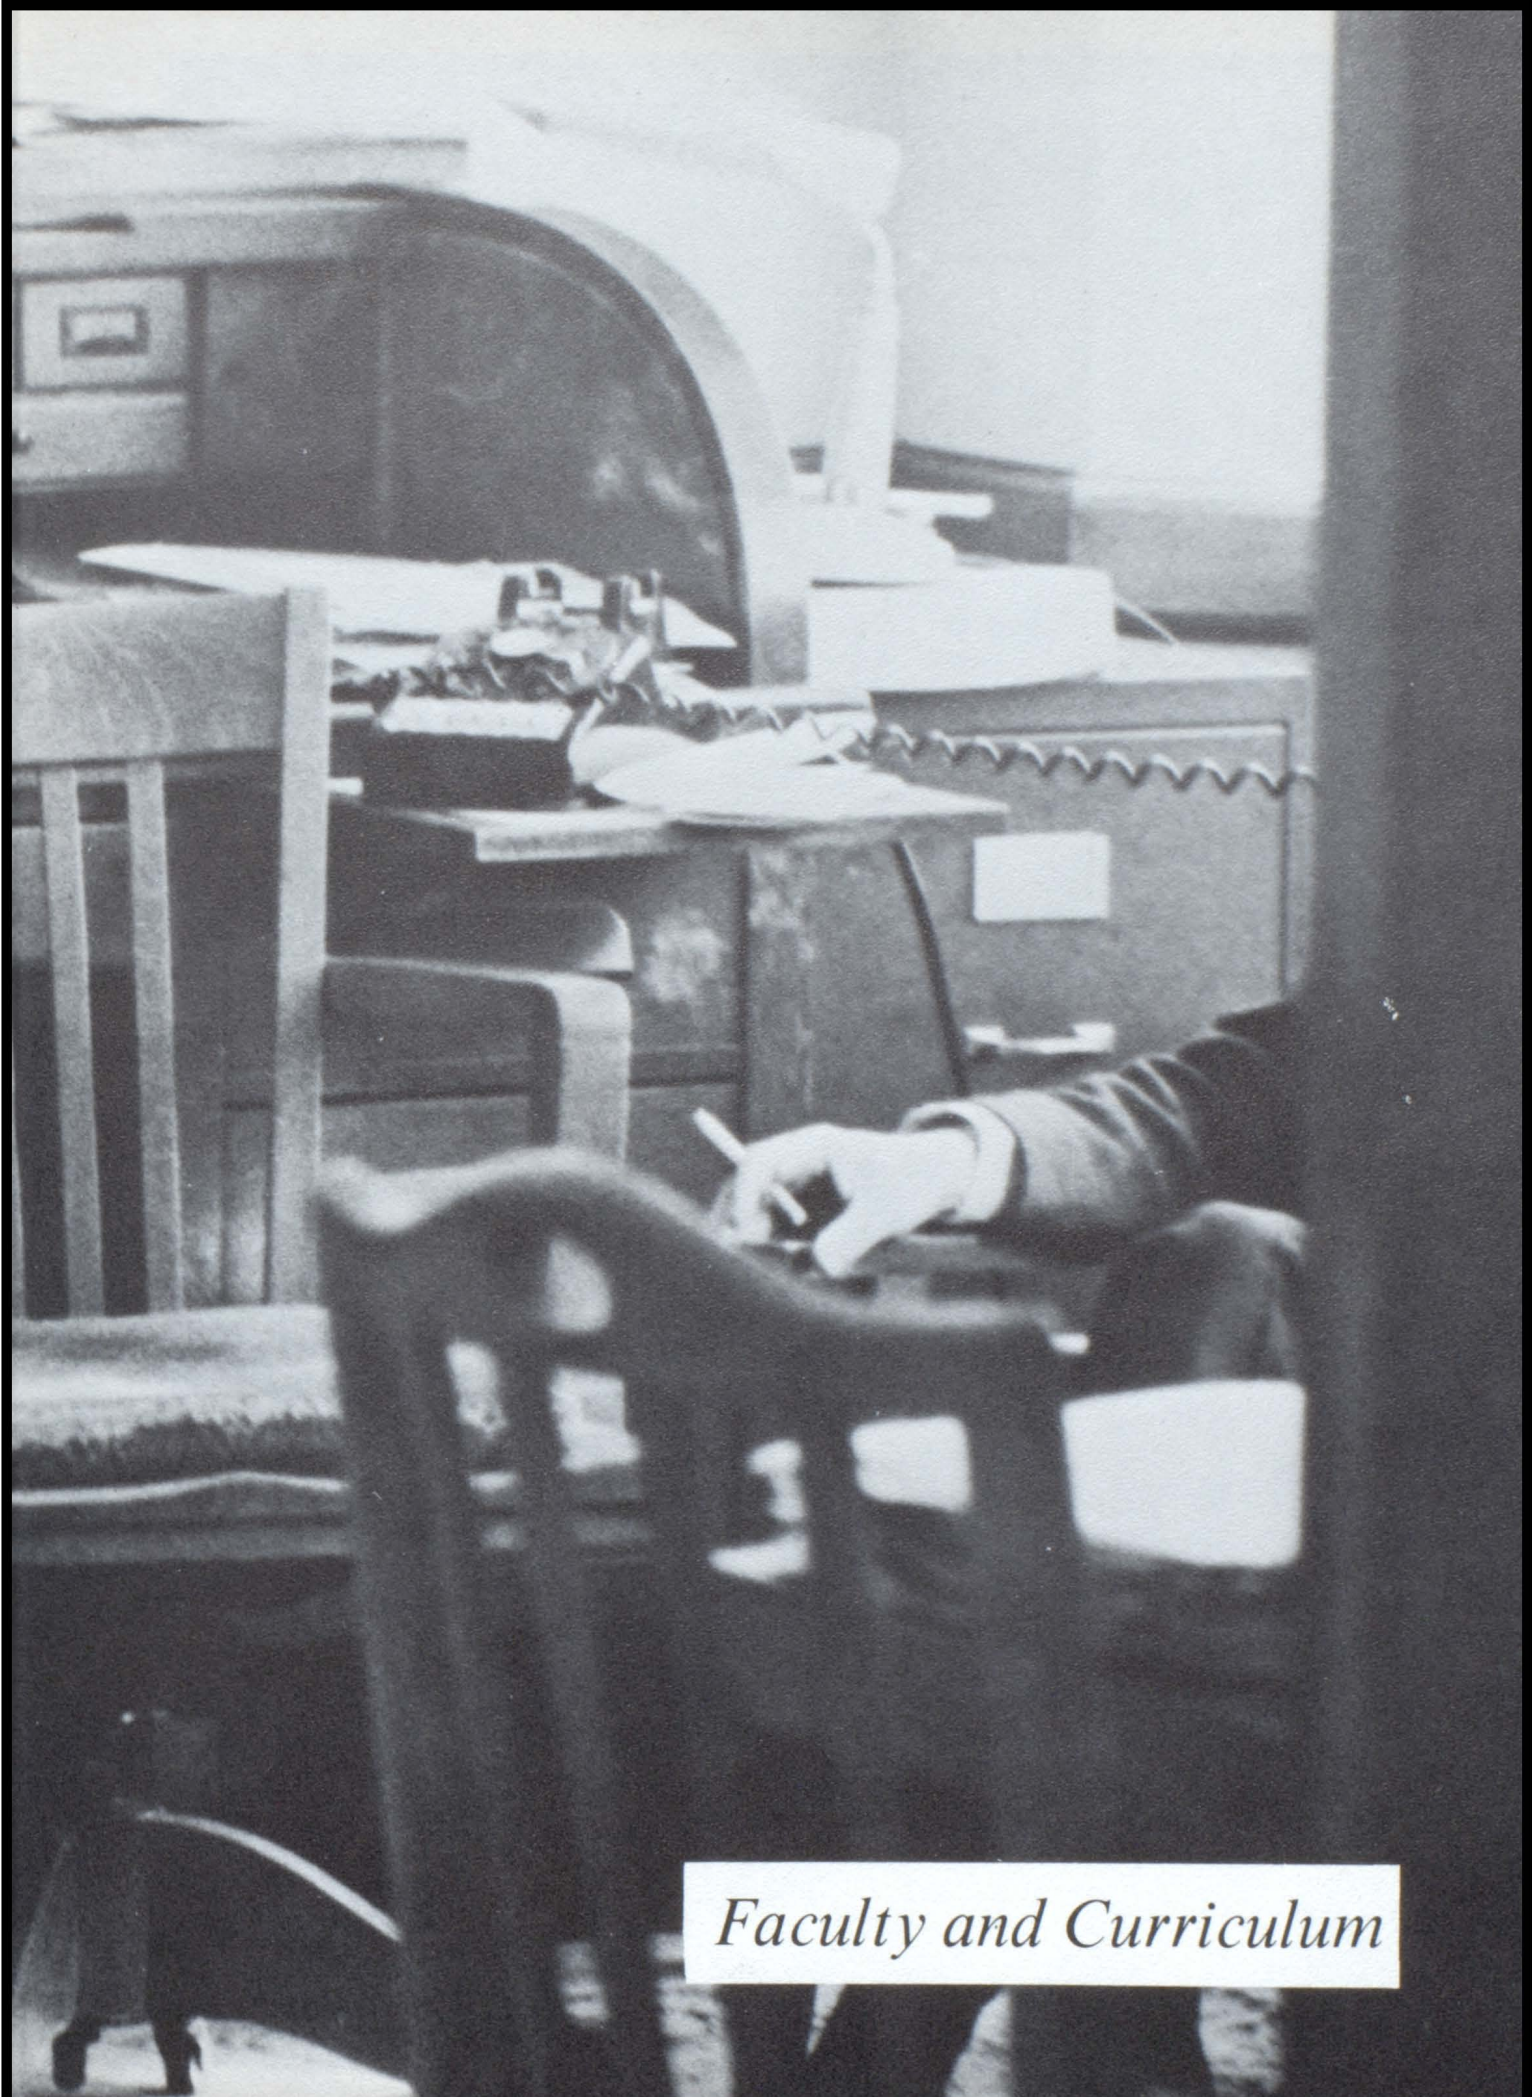

For more than four decades, Roosevelt's tower, standing high on the hill, has been reminding the citizens of Ypsilanti and of Michigan, as well as the staff and students of Eastern Michigan University, that the Campus Laboratory school stands for excellence. Year in and year out, Roosevelt has been providing multiple services. Roosevelt supplies education yearly for six hundred or more of the area's boys and girls. It is a training ground annually for several hundred of the University's star students who learn here how to teach, and who go out across the country to assume positions of leadership. It is the Curriculum Center of the state, where experimentation goes on under the direction of the University's skilled personnel and the able execution of Roosevelt's experienced staff. It is in this role of curriculum development that Roosevelt measures its future—a future that will bring educational leaders from the far-flung corners of the world to observe and to study.

Faculty and Curriculum

Administrator, Counselors Guide Roosevelt Pupils at all Levels

Principal Alister MacDonald (more familiarly known as "Mr. Mac") chats with Mr. Michael Lewis, elementary counselor. His willingness to talk—anywhere and anytime—extends all the way from confabs with faculty members to greetings and pointed paragraphs with underclassmen. In addition to his duties as principal, Mr. Mac acts as coach of the RHS tennis team and mentor to the history-hungry upperclassmen who look to Mr. Mac for illuminating sidelights on world happenings. "If you ask Mr. Mac, you'll know."

Mr. Hal Adams, high school counselor, came to Roosevelt from Royal Oak Kimball. He strives to keep the counseling office "a place where students come to talk." He serves RHS students by helping with their educational and vocational plans.

Mrs. Janet Burch, our ever-busy secretary, takes a moment from her schedule to help a bewildered student.

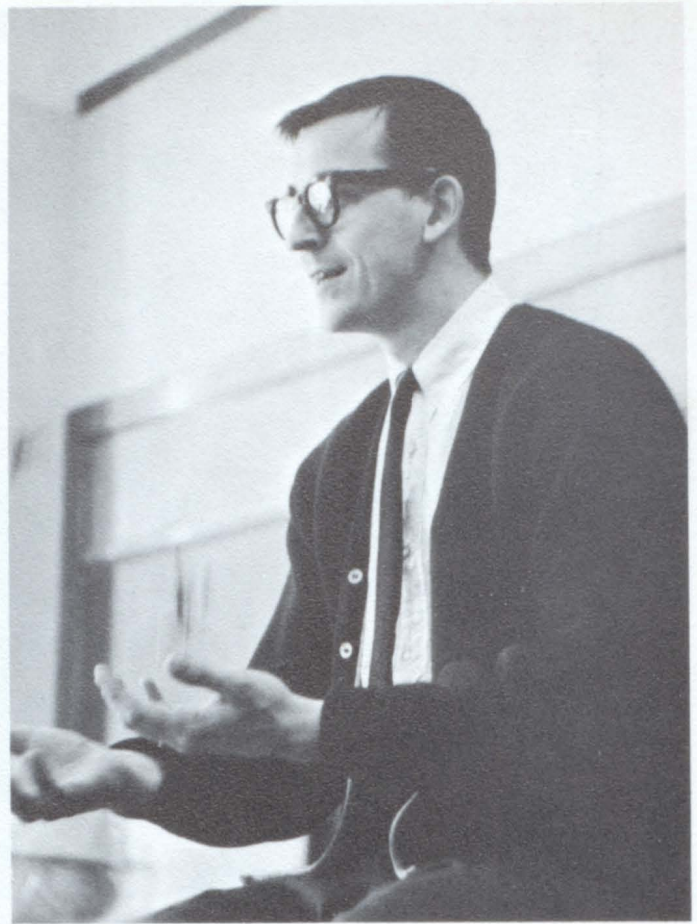

Office, Library Serve Students

Mrs. Betty Powers, librarian, sorts articles for the vertical file. Under her direction the library has been transformed into a place of QUIET study.

Mrs. Geraldine Kress, school nurse, works with senior Judy Demmons in recording the day's absences.

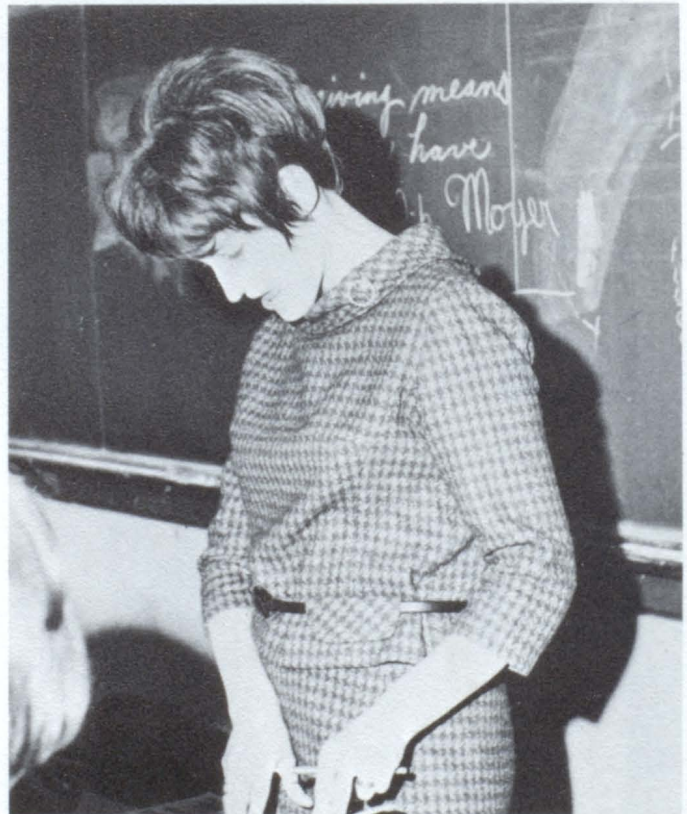

Miss Virginia Cooper runs off one of her many hand-out sheets, which put Latin and History at the student's fingertips.

Languages, History Broaden Horizons of Modern Students

For students interested in foreign languages, Mrs. Patsy Spangler and Miss Virginia Cooper teaches French and Latin respectively. In her World History course, Miss Cooper stresses the application of the story of the past to the world of today. Mr. Jerry Wyett, co-sponsor of the senior class, handles American History and American Government, and is well known for his interesting discussions of current issues.

Mrs. Patsy Spangler adds magazines to the text to make French more familiar to the students.

English Prepares Writers, Thinkers of the Future

The English Department, under the chairmanship of Professor M. Thelma McAndless, added three additional courses this year. Miss McAndless, in her regular roles of publications director and speech and drama coach assumed responsibility for the new courses in Publications and Speech. Miss Jean Fraser added a Creative Writing course, to her teaching of tenth and twelfth grade literature.

Under the direction of the University Geography Department Mr. Eric Knight, of EMU, continued for the second year the national experimental geography program.

Miss Jean Fraser critiques a poem with junior Chris Meuller in her Creative Writing class.

Mr. Eric Knight, Geography instructor, chats with Bob Clark about his new Zealand experiences.

Miss Joanne Rankin leads a discussion in Senior Math.

Mr. Emile Gosseaux believes that the sciences should play a role in making thinkers out of students.

Science, Mathematics Create Able Thinkers

Mr. Paul Milske, natural sciences and Biology Club sponsor, thrives on a crowded schedule. This year he set up special courses in physical and natural science. He succeeded in remodeling his lab for his Biology I and II courses.

Mr. Emile Gosseaux, the affable senior class sponsor and irrepressible Algebra I, Chemistry and Physics professor, moves students on their scientific mole hills and mountains. In conjunction with the Industrial Arts Department, he integrated the Physics and Electronics courses, thereby utilizing the special facilities of the Sill Industrial Arts complex.

For their advanced instruction in mathematics, students turn to Miss Joanne Rankin who puts them through their numbers races in Senior Math, Geometry, Algebra II and introduces them to an extensive mathematics library for their independent study. Junior High pupils develop their math concepts in the General Education Curriculum.

Mr. Paul Milske (right) discusses field notes with Mr. Fred McCraite, student teacher, on the annual Biology Club campout.

Special Courses Train For Home, Business

Business courses at Roosevelt are handled by Miss Vera North. Under her able hand, students learn the intricacies of shorthand, notehand, typing and business math.

Mr. Russell Brumbaugh, head of the EMU Driver Education Department, spends part of his time teaching the basics of good driving to Roosevelt students. "Sportsman-like Driving," the theme of the class, is taught in the classroom and practiced on the highway.

Mrs. Linda Daily is the home economics teacher as well as FHA sponsor. Throughout the year students under her guidance learn to manage a home efficiently.

Mr. Russell Brumbaugh, with an able group of student teachers, works at making safe and courteous drivers out of RHS students.

Mrs. Linda Daily assays the foreign cooking of her Home Economics students.

Coach "Bud" Dornbos reviews water safety methods for his physical education classes.

Dornbos Heads Athletic Department

Roosevelt is fortunate to have one of the outstanding physical education programs in the state. The various units throughout the year cover most areas of sports: football, soccer, cross country, basketball, swimming, gymnastics, and even a special dance unit. The special emphasis put upon fitness has enabled Roosevelt to produce fine athletic teams as well as encouraging youth to keep physically fit.

Coaches Jack Crabtree and Ron Saunders diagram new defensive strategy for upcoming game with St. Johns.

Mrs. Jean Sundquist is kept busy directing the music groups in their many activities.

Mr. Jerris Miller, Band and Orchestra, reviews music for possible use in upcoming concerts.

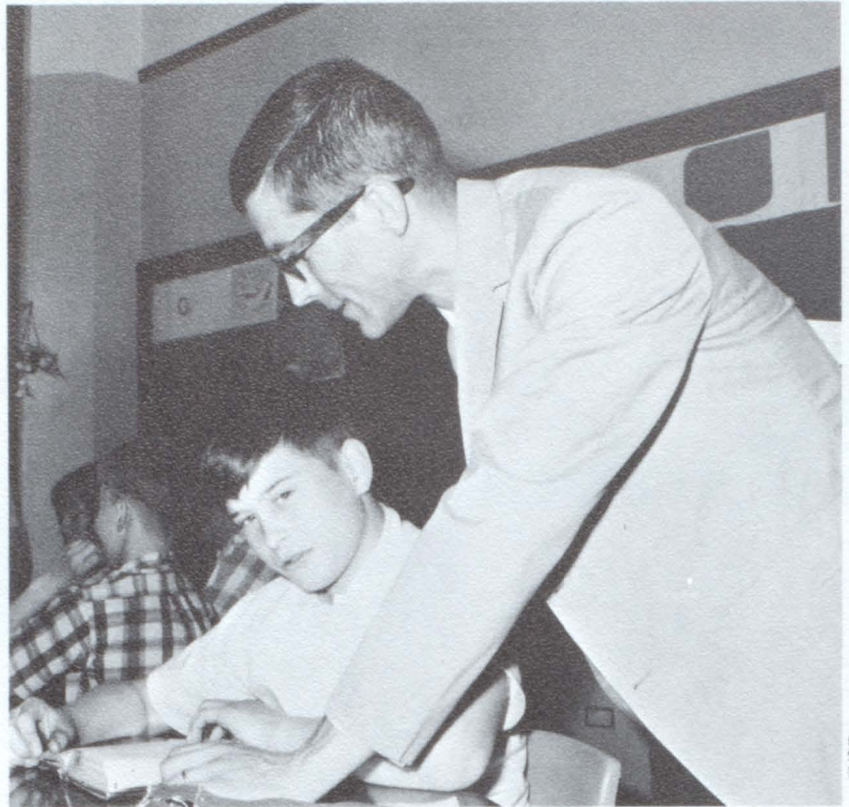

Arts Deepen Perception

Mr. Donald Valley uses vocal music as a means of enrichment for his elementary and middle school classes.

Caught off guard by photographer Hal Caswell is Roosevelt's controversial art teacher, Mr. Tom Dodd.

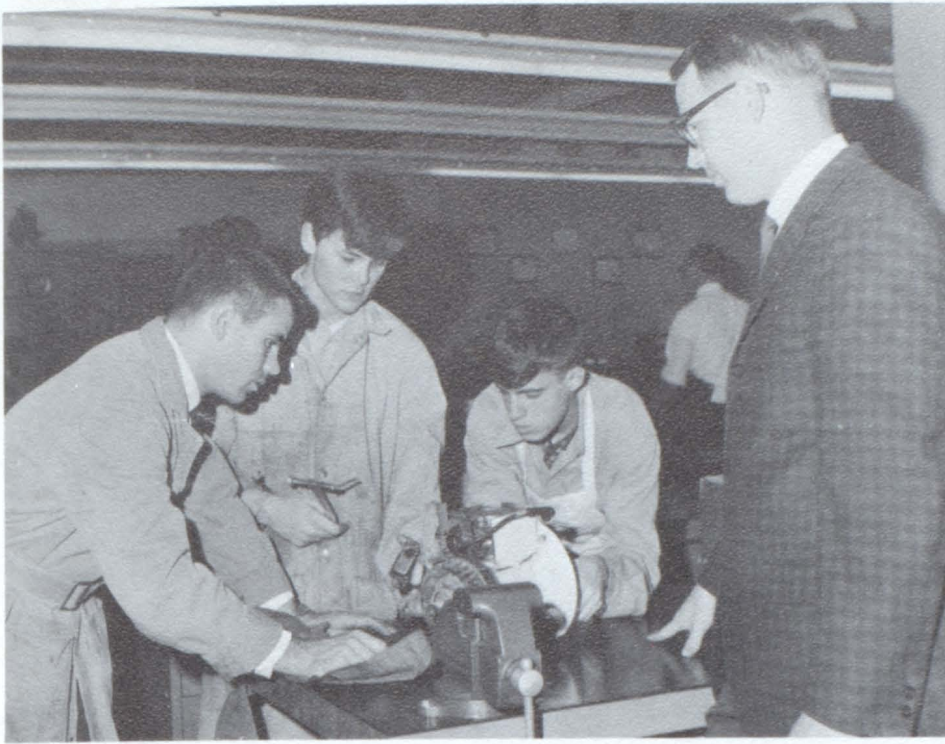

Mr. Gerald Sharp (l.) and Mr. David Gillies (above) spend their hours working with the new Component Curriculum for sixth and seventh graders.

General Education Satisfies Varied Student Interests

In serving the role of a research school, Roosevelt has initiated a new idea in curriculum development. The General Education Department, under the leadership of David Gillies, Gerald Sharp, and George Goodman, together with Thomas Shook and Marjorie Paynter, has developed a component curriculum. The program is divided into four areas, Social Assessment, Applied Learning, Individual Development, and Integrative Learning. The committee regrouped the sixth and seventh grades on the basis that it might be more favorable than the traditional seventh and eighth grouping.

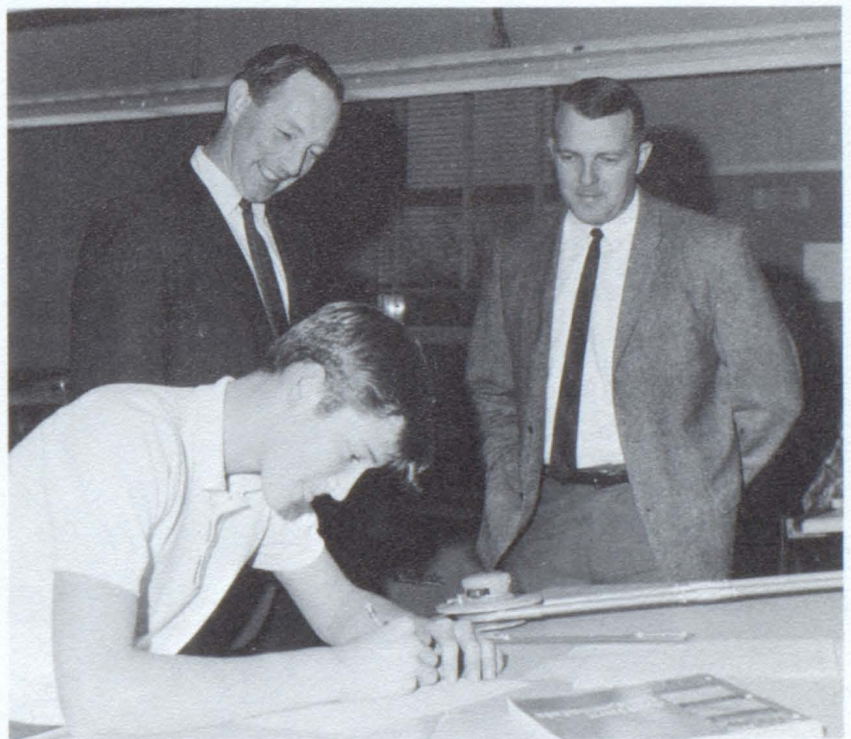

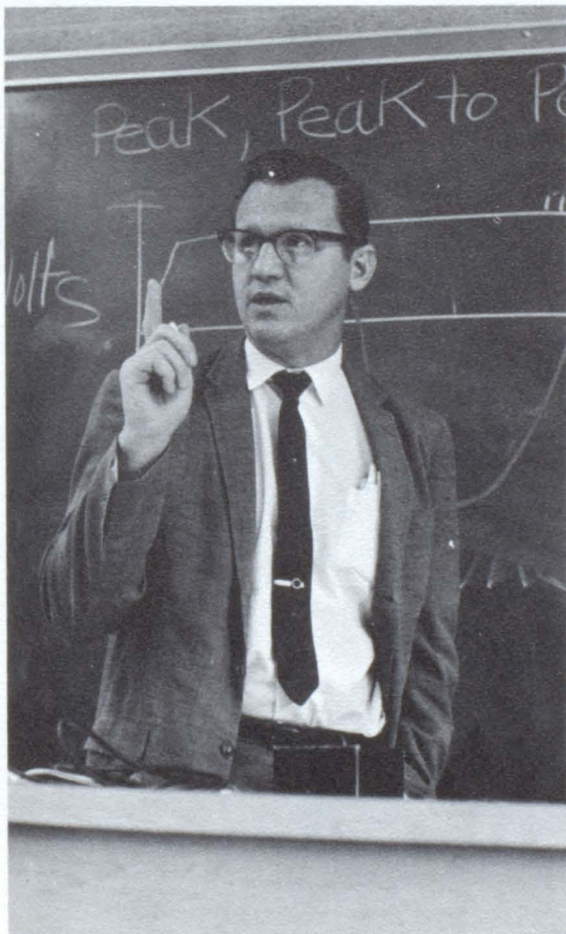

Mr. Thomas Shook, who, along with Mrs. Margorie Paynter, serves as General Ed mentor of the eighth grade, enjoys spirited discussions that give the students a chance to voice their own opinions.

Mr. Lou Kieft and Mr. Gerald Jennings explain the finer points of motor maintenance to Bill Bowan and Gary Morrison.

Industrial Arts

The Industrial Arts classes and the junior high industrial arts pupils make use of the new facilities of Sill Industrial Arts Complex. Graphic Arts include a semester in the print shop and a semester of drawing. Students of Power and Mechanics delve deep into the production and transmission of power. Extensive lab work helps students to gain a working knowledge of electricity and electronics. The conversion of raw material to useful articles is the chief concern of the Materials Processing class.

Mr. Norman Delventhal (top left) and Mr. Herbert Wilson, Industrial Arts, seem pleased as they observe the work of David Scott.

Mr. Arthur Francis, (left) the live wire of the Industrial Arts Department, discusses alternating current theory with his Electricity-Electronics class.

Council Sponsors Paint Day for Tanzanian School

With junior Harold Tripp at the helm, and an executive board made up of Mike Osadchuck, Sandy Sharrock, and Charlotte Osborn, the Student Council has enjoyed an active and profitable year. October marked the beginning of the magazine sale, sponsored dime dances, and movies. RHS provided leadership for the All-City Student Council.

This year the Roosevelt Council initiated a computer dance, and pledged $500 to the support of a school in Tanzania, one of the emerging nations of Africa. These added spice and zip to what could so easily become a round of run-of-the mill activities.

FHA Grows Through Service

This year the Future Homemakers of America, under the leadership of President Sally Leighton and their advisor, Mrs. Linda Daily, have accomplished much. In the fall, many of the girls took part in a bike hike to Huron Farms. Then members worked hard planning a skit with the Milan Chapter and making program covers for the Regional FHA meeting at Vandercook Lake. Other FHA activities included a trip to Detroit, making Christmas stockings for the children in the WRAND nursery, and sponsoring the annual Spring Sports Banquet.

1967 ECHO

Each year the small room at the East end of the building becomes the scene of a battle to produce a yearbook. 1967 was no exception, and a strange combination of midnight oil and elbow grease was used in large quantities as the editors and staff sweated over sales, deadlines, layouts, deadlines, proofreading, and deadlines. But we did it.

Echo staffers dissect books from other schools to see what makes a yearbook tick.

Members of the Rough Rider staff look over copies of the Detroit News while waiting for assignments from co-editors Jody Anderson and Sally Leighton.

Experience, they say, is the best source of knowledge, and if that is true, the Rough Rider should be in pretty good shape, with both of its editors and much of its staff back from last year. It is especially encouraging to note that editors Jody Anderson and Sally Leighton produced a paper last year that netted them a first place rating on a nationwide basis.

Under the able guidance of Miss Thelma McAndless, the girls and their staff look forward to an even better rating at the end of this school year.

Quest Encourages Literary, Artistic Creativity at RHS

The 1967 Quest, Roosevelt's literary magazine, attracted entries from a large segment of the school population. Poems, essays, short stories and plays passed before the discerning eyes of co-editors Barb Campbell and Sue LaRue and their vigilant staff. Then there were hours spent with the contributions of the artists and photographers of the school so that the book could be representative of the total creative effort of the year, and fulfill its purpose of nurturing creativity at Roosevelt.

Co-editors Sue LaRue and Barb Campbell look over a short story, one of the many contributions to Quest.

Peabody Explores Time

Many hours of long, hard work have been devoted by the members of the Swim Club to make the year worthwhile and enjoyable. Aided by their sponsor, Miss Mary Drake, they carried out several projects, which included giving a party at the WRAND Nursery for the forty pre-school age children and sponsoring a dinner for the Boys' Swim Team. Their largest project consisted of producing a synchronized swimming show in the middle of March.

An overnight at a nearby lake, to initiate new members, climaxed the year's activities.

Movies, field trips, lab nights, and lectures are among the many activities of the club. The Biological Sciences Library, a last year's innovation of Mr. Milske, has continued to grow, providing resource material for papers, projects, and experiments. The highlights of this year were the spring and fall campouts, the former at Kensington Park, the latter at Green Lake.

Orchestra Banks on Underclassmen

Once again the challenge of making music was met by Roosevelt students. The orchestra's loss of many of last year's musicians to various colleges gave opportunity for the spotlight to focus on the hard-working underclassmen. Their long hours of practice are helping the organization to achieve the excellence of past years.

Varied Vocal Music Offerings

Echoes of music floated from the Chorus room and stage as the 1966-67 Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Jean Sundquist, rehearsed for programs throughout the year. The Chorus, consisting of fifty-four vocalists, presented Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring concerts. The year was ended with a benefit Pop Concert to raise funds for the students touring with overseas Choral groups.

Seniors Win Kudos With Dramatic Talents

In the spring of 1966 the class of '67 presented a courtroom thriller, The Night of January 16th. The three-act mystery gave many of the juniors a chance to demonstrate their dramatic abilities. It also revealed the skill and artistry of the technical crews. In the tense drama Debbi Davis, Jerry Cooch, Don Goings and Sharon Turner carried the lead roles.

The Queen

The pep rally, the game, the choosing of candidates and the election of the queen—these were the highlights of the 1966 Homecoming.

The front entrance of Roosevelt witnessed a pep rally the likes of which had never been seen in the history of the school. This event, followed by the annual bonfire, boosted the spirits and enthusiasm of everyone, and set the tempo for Saturday's game.

Quitters Never Win, Riders Didn't Quit

Roosevelt's Riders came through the 1966 football season with the second best record in the grid history of Roosevelt. Led by Captain Dave Walline, the gridders posted a 5-2-1 record, for second place in the Lakeland "C" Conference.

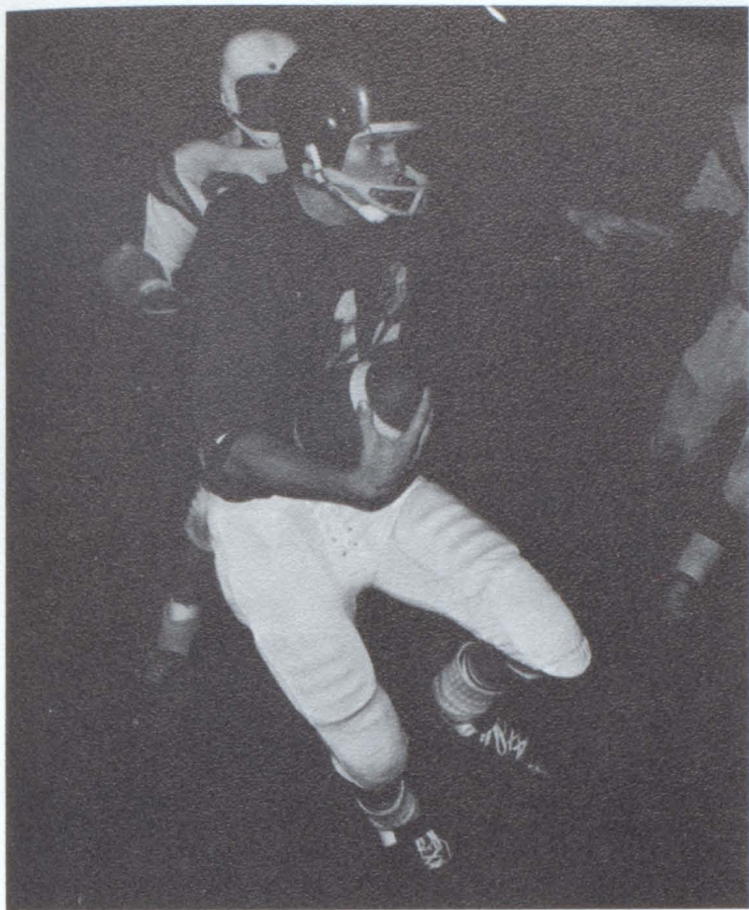

Throughout the season, the gridders displayed great individual as well as fine team effort. The passing of Jerry Cooch to end Mike Kennedy proved to be Roosevelt's big scoring threat as Jerry tossed nine touchdown passes to Mike. Both Jerry and Mike were named to the All-Conference Team. For his fine efforts in the tackle and linebacker positions, Dave Walline was selected to the All-Conference and All-State teams, the first All-Stater in Roosevelt history.

Riders Triumph Over St. John's, 18-7, in Mud Bowl

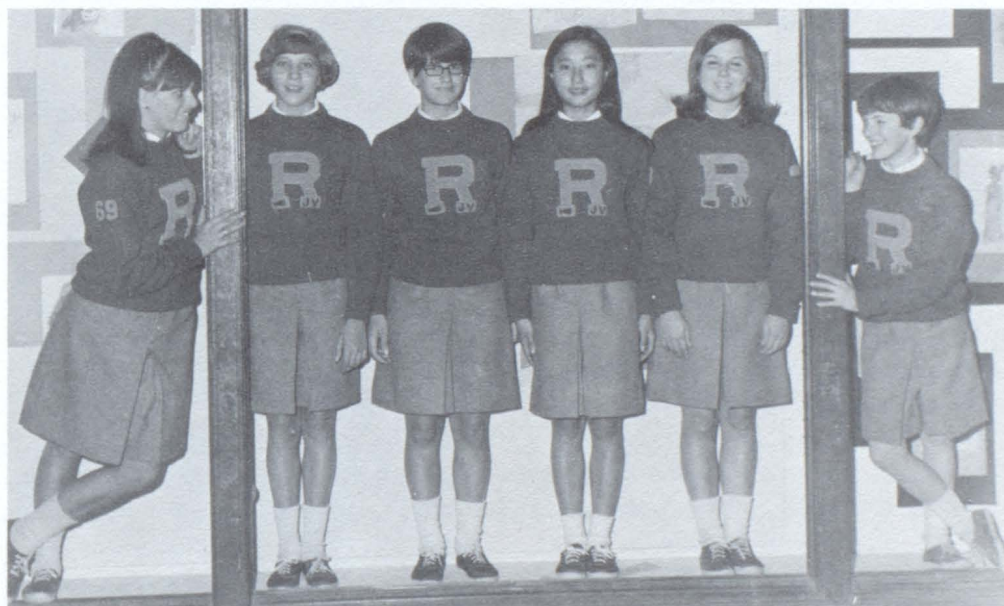

Captain Dave Walline accepts the Kiwanis trophy for Roosevelt.

Roosevelt's fine 1966 football season was capped by an 18-7 win over cross-town rival St. John's. The game was played on a field of mud, and a wet snow fell throughout the contest. The game, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, was one of the most exciting in recent years for a Rider team, and amply rewarded the few fans who braved the cold and snow to see it. The Riders were unable to use their powerful passing attack because of the weather, and had to rely on the strong running of Doug Tripp, Dave Gessert and Jerry Cooch, each of whom contributed one touchdown to the Roosevelt tally. As the jubilant and thoroughly mudcovered team carried their coaches off the field, all present agreed, "It was a very good year."

“Second Season” Brings Riders District Trophy

The 1966-'67 basketball season was not what Coach Webster Kirksey would call highly successful. The Rough Riders went through the regular schedule losing all but two of their games. The first victory came over arch rival U-High, and the second over Pinckney, in which the Red and Grey broke the year-old school scoring record as they tallied 88 points, with senior Milt Green pouring in 37 points. But the two wins were little consolation for the loss of the other 14 games.

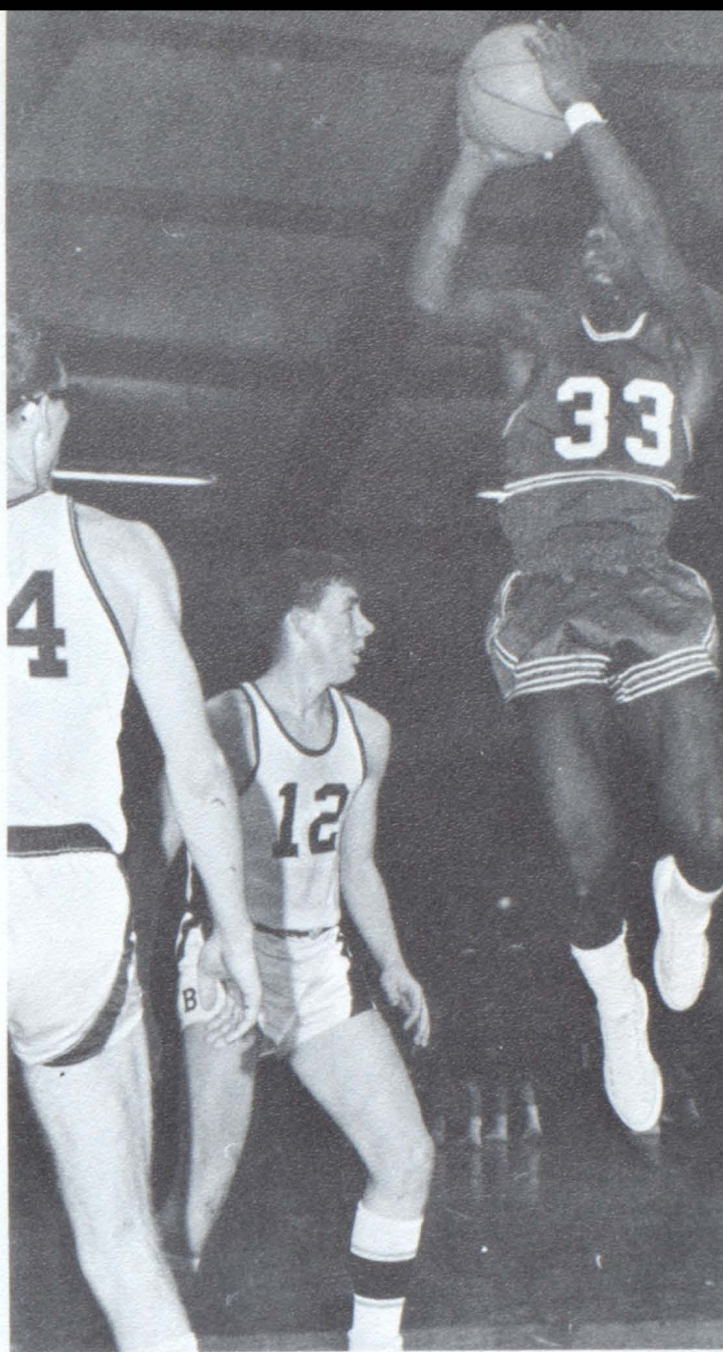

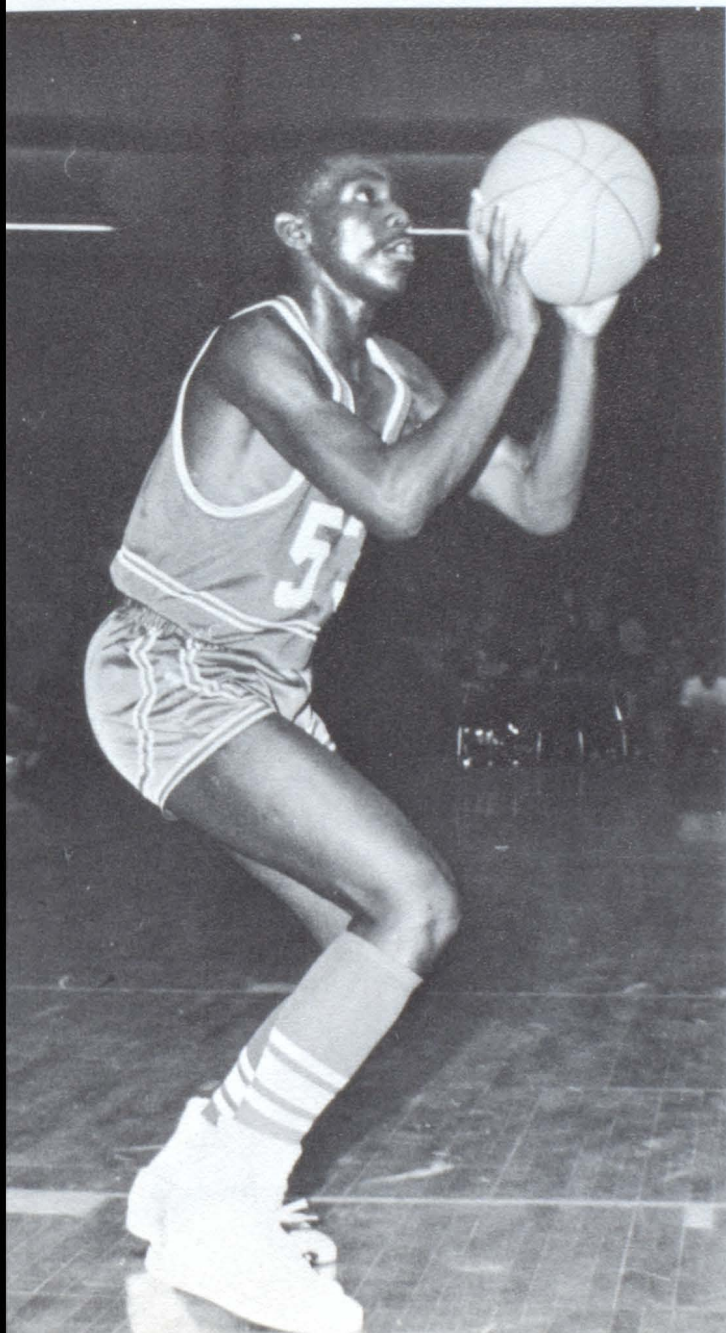

After the finish of the regular season the Riders moved to District play, or as it is often called, the “second season.” In the first District game the Riders upset Wayne St. Mary's 62-60 and moved to the semi-finals against highly ranked Ann Arbor St. Thomas. The Riders dominated the game from the start and surprised the Irish with a 65-64 victory.

In the District finals Roosevelt came up against their cross town rivals, St. John's, who had beaten them by 22 points in a meeting earlier in the season. The St. John's game was played before an estimated 3,000 fans at Bowen Field House, the Riders coming out victorious as Bob Lundy sank a 12 foot jump shot, with two seconds remaining, to give the Riders a 61-59 win.

In the Regional tournaments the Riders bowed out in the first round to league champion Brooklyn.

Milt Green, senior forward, prepares for a shot at the side of the key. Milt's determined rebounding was a deciding factor in tournament victories.

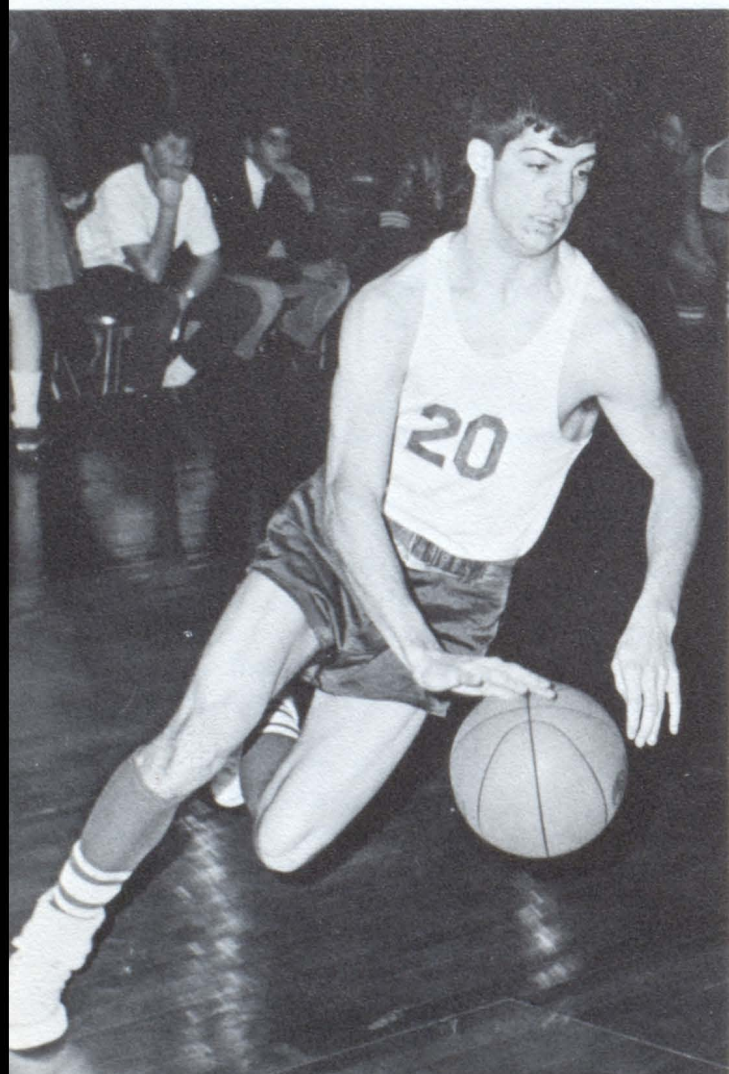

Bob Lundy, junior, goes high in the air for a jump shot. Lundy's last second basket in the game vs. St. Johns clinched a district title for the Riders.

Dave Gessert (45), junior, looks for an outlet while hotly pursued by two Brooklyn defenders.

J.V.'s Gain Valuable Experience

A dismal season it was for this year's Junior Varsity Basketball team. The new basketekers supported by only two of last year's recruits managed to scrape up a lone victory against Whitmore Lake. Although the '67 season was disappointing, Coach Jim Herndon foresees that there will be a large group of experienced freshmen returning next year and anticipates a winning season.

Tankers Finish Winning Season with a Fourth at State

Outstanding performances this year enabled the Rider natators to gain the first Conference championship in the newly created Independenat Swimming Conference. With a 6 win, 0 loss Conference record the Riders went on to take the Conference meet easily, swamping opponents Erie-Mason, Lincoln, and Ann Arbor University High by taking seven of eleven firsts and a respectable number of seconds and thirds.

In posting a 12-4 dual meet record the Riders lost only to Class B State Champ Riverview and Class A rivals Adrian and Livonia Franklin. The Ypsi Relays provided the tankers with another trophy.

A fourth place finish in the 1967 Class B State Meet was highlighted by sophomore Bill Rowan's second place finish in the 200 yard free-style and the second place of the medley relay composed of John Johnson, Hal Caswell, Jerry Cooch, and Dick Adams, whose time of 1:50.4 set a new school record.

Though the team will lose five of this year's seniors, including Captain Mike Kennedy (co-holder with Bill Rowan of the Most Valuable Player award), prospects for next year are good. Coach Bud Dornbos will look to Captain-elect Tom Cox and to Rowan to lead a large group of underclass lettermen in the '67-68 campaign.

Senior John Johnson shoves hard against the wall on his way to the Conference championship in the 100 yard backstroke.

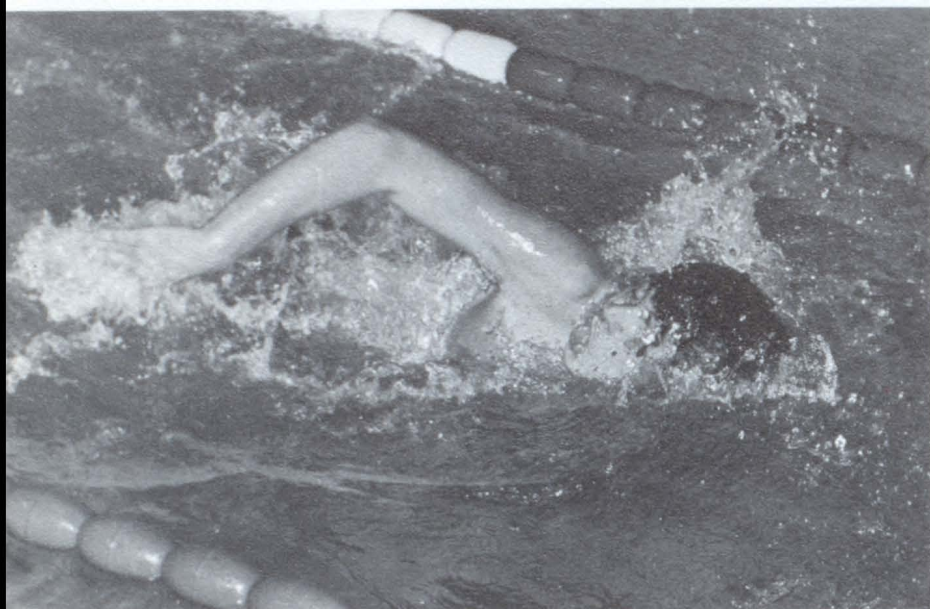

Breastroker Hal Caswell (above) gets a flying start on the second leg of the record-shattering 160 yard medley relay.

Jerry Cooch churns through the pool towards the finish line and victory in the 100 yard butterfly.

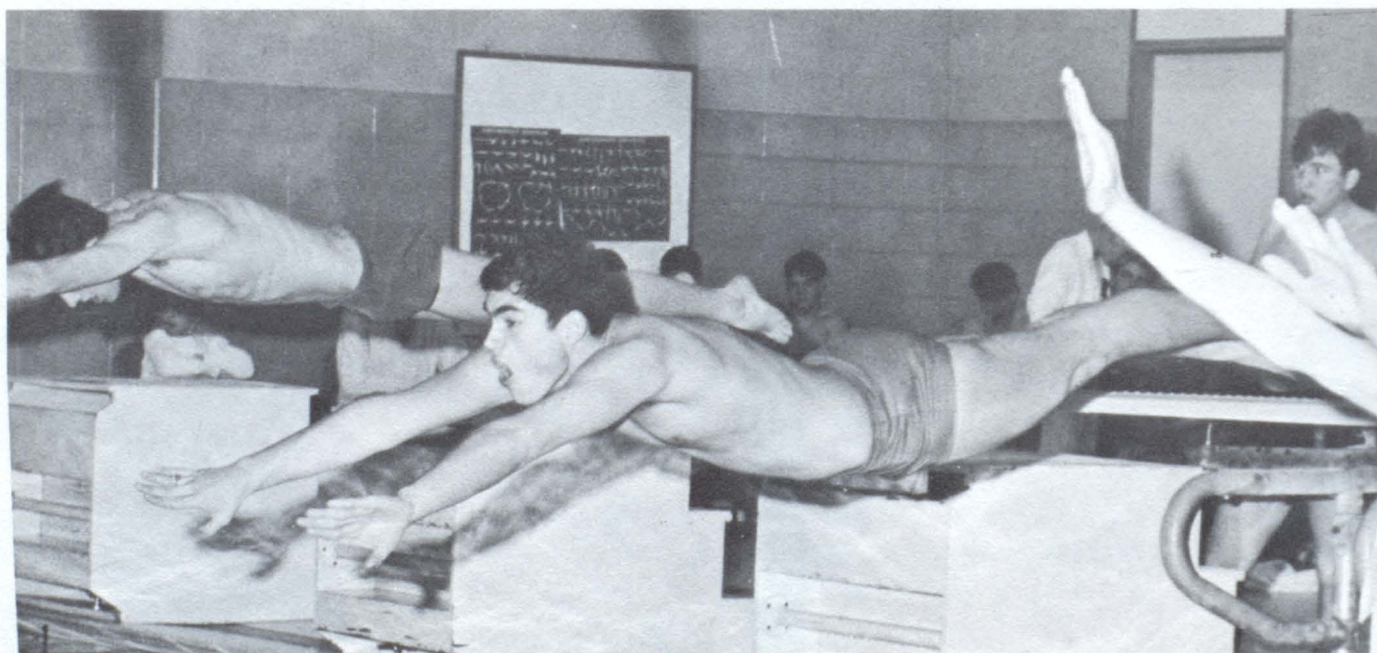

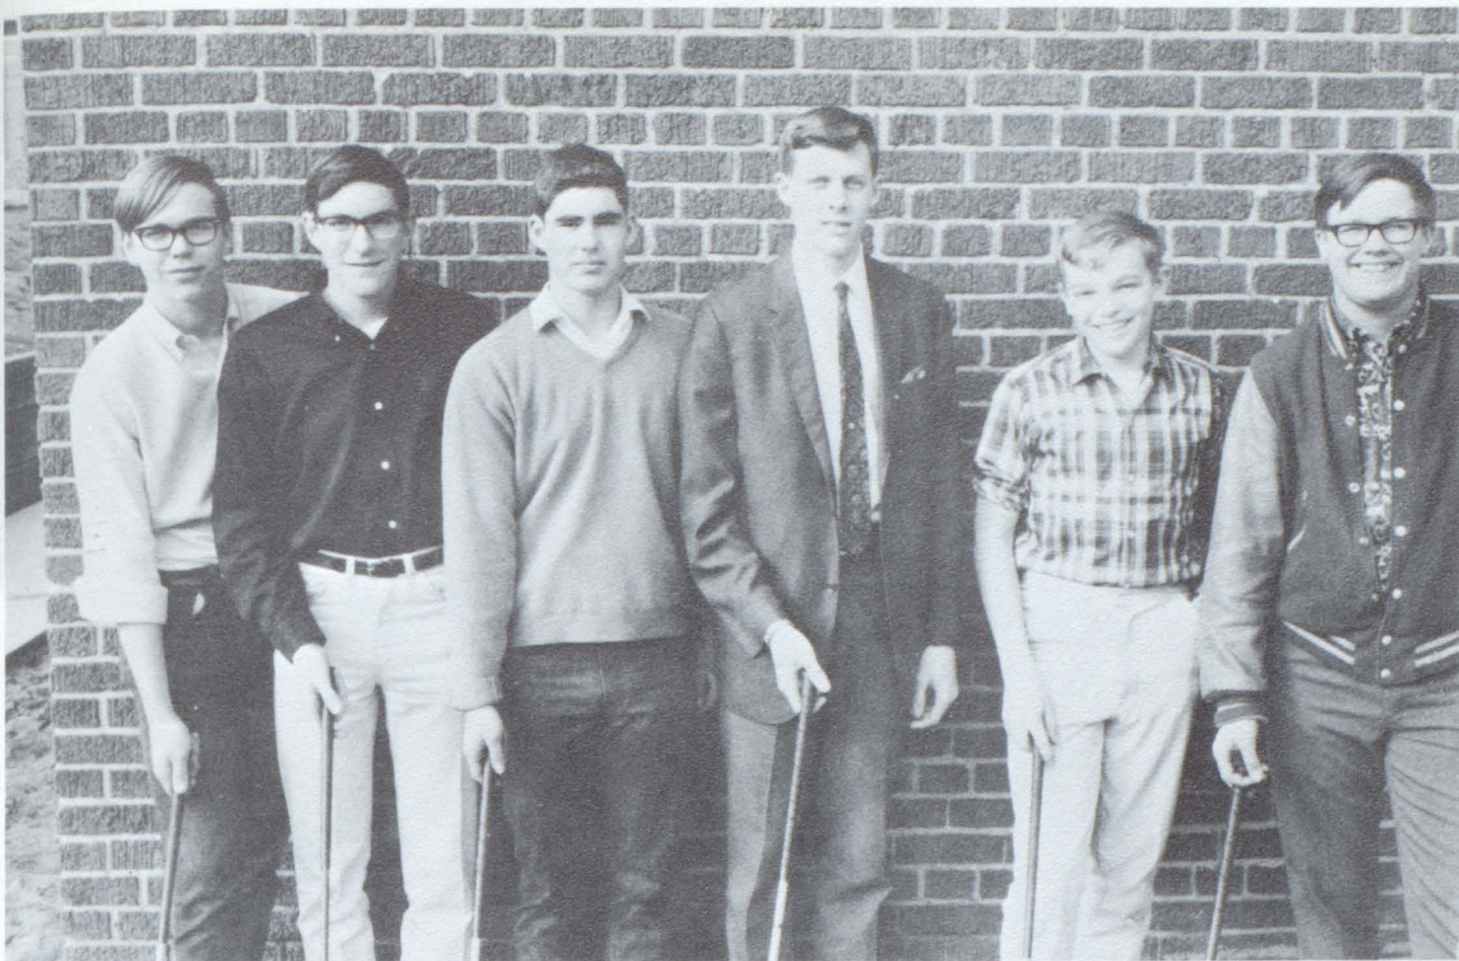

Junior Dick Adams gives 100% on the start of the 60 yard free-style.

Bill Rowan, the friendly neighborhood amphibian, shows the form that makes him one of the best distance swimmers in the state. Only a sophomore, he holds RHS records in both the 200 and 400 yard freestyle and placed second and fourth, respectively, in these events at State Meet.

Bob Spiess (below), butterflyer, strains to gain the extra few inches at the start that may mean the difference between winner and also-ran in swimming.

Golf Team Looks to Underclassmen

After posting a 5-5 record in the 1966 season, the Roosevelt puttsters look forward to improving their record. Captain Bob Spiess, junior, hopes that considerable growth will be made this year. The team, made up largely of underclassmen, will lose only one member, Milt Proper, by graduation. Bob Brumbaugh, '65er, came back this year to coach the Rider golf team. In an interview Bob stressed that next year he would be working with a seasoned team and could probably roll up some impressive victories.

Captain Bob Spiess concentrates on prospects for the upcoming season.

Sluggers Go For Three in a Row Captained by Mike

They say good things come in threes, and that's just what the Roosevelt baseball team hopes this year. After taking the Conference crown for the second consecutive year, with a 12-0 record, the Riders look to having a good season. Captain Mike Washington, junior, will have help from returning seniors Wayne Brendum and Steve Maggio, as well as from a large group of underclassmen. The team will be hampered though by the loss of last year's seniors, including Captain John Hall, and Most Valuable Player Bill Wales.

Coach Ron Saunders and Captain Mike Washington anticipate a successful season

Cindermen's Hopes Rest on Underclassmen

1967 promises to be a good year for the Rider thinclads. Though handicapped by the loss of nine lettermen through graduation, coaches Jack Crabtree and Mike Pellerin are hard at work in an attempt to better the 1966 record of eight wins and one loss. This record, the best ever, was overshadowed by a loss to Conference champ U-High.

Captain Jim Moore (440, mile relay) will be aided by returning seniors Roger Johnson (mile, two mile) and Dave Walline (shotput), as well as by last year's high point man junior John Keller. The addition of the two mile this year will provide experience for the underclassmen. Records may well be shattered this spring in the mile, two mile and the shotput.

John Keller (sprints and long jump) strains to get the greatest distance possible in the long jump. For two years John has participated in four events each meet.

Returning Lettermen

These photographs, taken in the spring of 1966, show the extreme concentration and effort characteristic of this fine track team. Unfortunately the cameraman caught only five of the six returning lettermen performing in their specialties; there is no photo available of junior letterman Van Bolden (sprints).

Ultimate effort at the finish pays off in a first for Roger Johnson in the Lincoln meet. As a distance specialist, Roger is expected to dominate the Conference in the mile run.

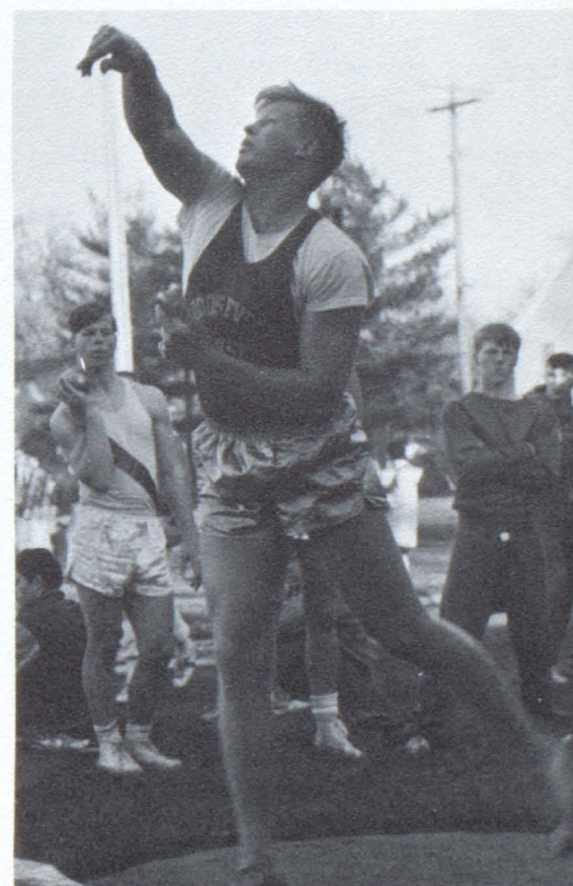

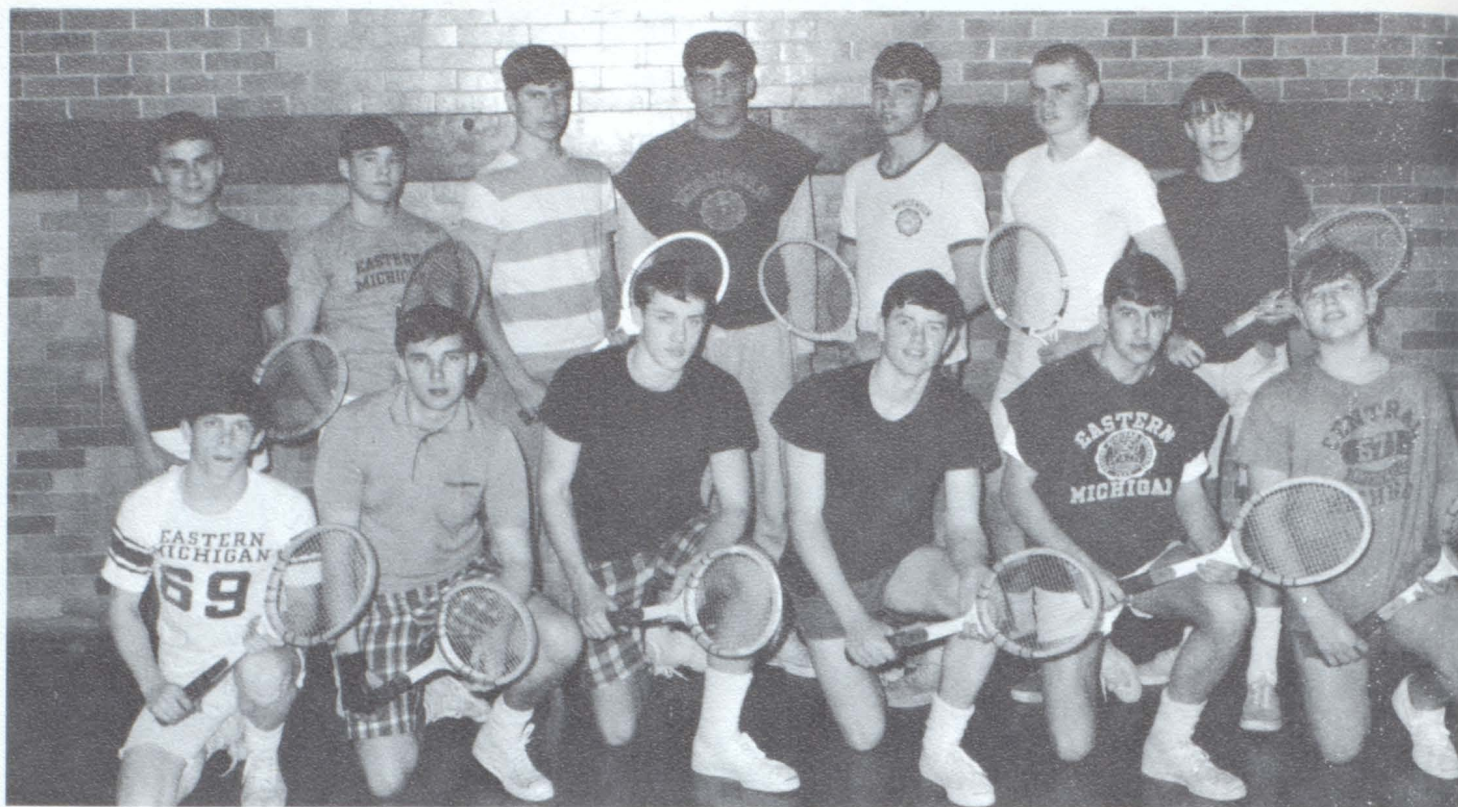

Sophomore Bill Bowen kicks for the finish line in the 440 yard dash in the 1966 Conference meet. Bill ran third man on the Rider mile relay teams as well as running the 440.

Intense concentration is evident in the face of Captain Jim Moore as he awaits the exchange of the baton in the mile relay. Jim eagerly anticipates an undefeated season.

Off into orbit? Well, not quite. Dave Walline is shown putting the shot in the '66 Conference meet, in which he took fifth place. Early puts this spring give the team hope of a new record.

Tennis Team Looks to State

This year senior Jerry Cooch will captain the tennis team. 1967 looks to be one of the best years ever for the tennis squad, as only one senior was lost through graduation, and a large group of juniors and seniors returned, including last year's Most Valuable Player, Don Ferrer. Experience will be the key note to the success of the season, with three three-year lettermen returning. A helping hand will also be given by a squad of experienced sophomores and freshmen. Nineteen sixty-seven will give the Riders a good shot at both Regional and State championship trophies, as well as contributing to the building up of future teams.

'V' for victory. Captain Jerry Cooch, senior, lets loose with his smashing serve.

Seniors

Sponsors Survive Rigors of Senior Year

Mr. Emile Gosseaux

Mr. Jerry Wyett

As we the amazing class of 1967 reflect upon our high school years, we spotlight the key experiences that have enabled us to become the kinds of individuals we seem to be.

We remember the Freshman Initiation, at which we proved ourselves worthy to enter high school. Our "humbling" stunts were performed with an exuberance never witnessed before in any plebe class. We channeled our energy into establishing ourselves academically and athletically.

As sophomores, we delighted in initiating the freshmen, and took great pride in wearing our class rings. We, the sensational '67's, continued to liven school with our sparkling vitality.

Throughout the junior year, we, the magnificent class of '67, became known for our versatility. We became prominent in student government, sports, scholastics, and National Honor Society. We presented the most stupendous prom ever, "Scheherezade," and bade the seniors a warm farewell.

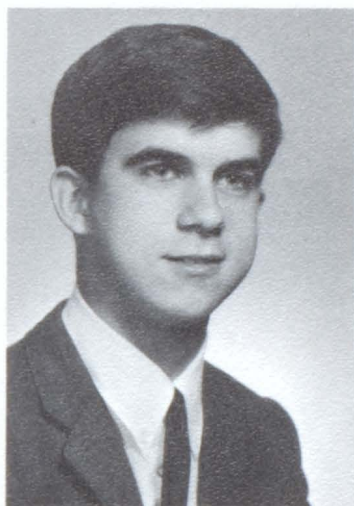

Finally, in September 1966, feeling every bit the part of poised and knowledgeable seniors, we took over the school. We marveled at the array of personalities in our midst. We took on a sophisticated attitude in our classes. We plotted and planned our spectacular '67 senior trip and spent exciting hours investigating colleges and careers.

As this senior year draws to a close, we begin to nurse mixed feelings of relief and regret—we speculate upon the future.

We, the members of the class of '67, do hold in our hearts some deep-seated memories of Roosevelt and all its traditions. We cannot truthfully say goodbye, only a fond farewell.

Underclassmen

Sue Hopkins (l.) and Amy Sanzi present their sponsors, Miss Thelma McAndless and Miss Virginia Cooper, with roses in appreciation for their gallantry beyond the call of duty during the Junior Carnival.

As June 1968 rapidly approaches, the Juniors go all out to prove themselves early. Guided by sponsors, Miss Thelma McAndless and Virginia Cooper, the class of '68 has dived wholeheartedly into various class projects.

The year '67 has been highlighted by the Junior-Senior Prom, and the Not-To-Be ignored Junior Carnival.

The class has also demonstrated excellence on the athletic field, as well as on the stage, and has contributed generously to the academic and political establishments of the school.

Sophs Usher in Freshmen

Under the leadership of Miss Mary Drake and Mr. Thomas Dodd the Class of 1969 made its presence known in the halls of Roosevelt. With abundant spirit and enthusiasm, the sophomores demonstrated their capabilities in scholarship and athletics, and cultivated the social graces of RHS.

Sophomore activities in 1966-'67 included the sponsoring of the Freshman Initiation and intelligent participation in Student Council affairs.

Sophs Barry Johnson, Dick VanAernum, and John Studt find the library a pleasant place to work or, as in this case, relax with a good magazine.

Frosh Begin Busy High School Life

The Class of 1970, better known as freshmen, began their busy high school life with the annual Freshman Initiation. Beneath the guiding hand of the beneficent sophomores, the frosh suffered the various indignities characteristic of the yearly ritual.

Sponsored by Miss Joanne Rankin and Mr. Paul Milske, the frosh maintained tradition by selling pom poms for the annual Homecoming game, and anticipated rapturously the chance to sponsor the spring dance, Promenade in the Park.

Carol Pinter and Micki Crandell cut up during the frosh Halloween party.

Eighth Graders Engage in Experimental Program

The class of '71 under the supervision of Mr. Thomas Shook and Mrs. Margaret Paynter has shown its school spirit, not only in athletics but in scholarship. The eighth graders dominated intramural sports by winning most of the trophies offered.

The pupils have been the resource population for two experimental programs here at Roosevelt: the Activity Period, in which the students choose from a wide range of classes and subjects which they wish to study, and the Skills Hour which places students, according to their ability in classes concerned with the development of the basic 3 R's. Programmed learning occupies their time purposefully.

Eighth Graders beautify campus during class project.

Combined Sixth-Seventh Grades . . .

Fit into Modular Curriculum

As an experimental school Roosevelt has been pioneering educational theories and practices since its inception in 1925. Currently Roosevelt is piloting a program for a combination of the middle grades. The combination predicates a diversification of curricula, now labeled as a Component Curriculum. It currently affords an opportunity for pupils to delve into twenty-four different areas of learning.

Messrs. Gerald Sharp, David Gilles, George Goodman, and Mrs. Jeanne Scott sponsor these boys and girls. They try to keep in step with their inquiring minds and vibrating bodies.

THEY KNOW WHAT IT'S LIKE

The many young people at Michigan Bell join in congratulating the members of the graduating class. They know what it's like to work hard for a diploma, and get one.

They know, too, what it's like to want a rewarding job with a future, and find one. If you think you might like to join them, either now or after college, do stop by to see us. We'll be happy to discuss the wide variety of career opportunities in the exciting field of telephone communications.

The Echo staff presents the product of long and painful hours spent on a job which at times seemed almost too harrowing. Undoubtedly our critics will find words to express their pleasure or their protests. We, however, are now silent. That we are grateful to advisor, to photographer, to publisher, to the faculty members who were gracious in moments of tension and even disaster has ever been apparent. We say thank you to all and farewell.
